A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL FROM BEREA COLLEGE!

NEW YEAR'S BELLS.

In many places a church bell is rung, tolling during the last moments of the old year and ringing joyously at midnight when the new year begins.

If you do not understand these verses at first read them over and over till you see how beautiful and grand they are. They help us realize that the world is growing better as the years go by.

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,

The flying clouds, the frosty light;

The year is dying in the night.

Ring out, wild bells, and let him die

Ring out the old, ring in the new,

Ring happy bells across the snow.

The year is going, let him go,

Ring out the false, ring in the true.

Ring out the grief that saps the mind,

For those that here we see no more;

Ring out the feud of rich and poor,

Ring in redress to all mankind.

Ring out a slowly dying cause,

And ancient forms of party strife;

Ring in the nobler modes of life,

With sweeter manners, purer laws.

Ring out the want, the care, the sin,

The faithless coldness of the times;

Ring out, ring out my unavailing rhymes,

But ring the bells of joy and peace,

Ring out false pride in place and blood,

The civic slander and the spite;

Ring in the love of truth and right,

Ring in the common life of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease,

Ring out the narrowing list of gold;

Ring out the thousand wars of old,

Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free,

The larger heart, the kinder hand;

Ring in the love that makes a team,

Ring in the Christ that is to be.

A NEWSPAPER AS AN EDUCATOR.

Notice two families side by side, one taking a good family newspaper and the other not, and in nine cases out of ten you can see at once the benefit which the newspaper has brought.

The CITIZEN is a teacher whose school runs the year around.

The CITIZEN is a Sunday-school teacher who never misses a Sunday.

The CITIZEN gives the young folks good things to think about.

The CITIZEN helps the old man make in re off of his land.

The CITIZEN makes home brighter, cheers the sick, brings news from all the world and pays for itself every week.

Do not begin the new year without subscribing for THE CITIZEN.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS.

Don't let New Year's day pass without doing some thinking. What faults do you want to be rid of? What virtues do you want to gain?

Ask the Lord to help you make wise resolutions, and keep them.

Berea is the place to find good company, though you can bring bad company to Berea, or make it after you get here!

WARNING OUR PEOPLE AGAINST THE MORMONS.

The most dangerous false religion which has arisen in the world since the times of Mohammed is that of the Mormons, who call themselves "the Latter Day Saints," of Utah, who follow the polygamous teachings of Joseph Smith. The Mormon leaders have deceived their followers, disappointed thousands of simple-minded people who trusted in them, and lied to the Government. Some of their "missionaries" or "elders" are now at work in eastern Kentucky. Full information exposing them will be sent to any person who will send his address in a letter or on a postal card directed to THE CITIZEN, Berea, Ky.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS MUST BEGIN EARLIER.

Now is the time to take notice. All public schools have been in bad shape through the last of November and December—children few, uncomfortable, and discouraged.

The cure is to begin the first week in July. Parents and trustees are dilatory, but let us all note and remember a school always does better in July than in the mud!

CHRISTMAS IN BEREA

Wonderful pains are taken to make Christmas a good day for the students. Miss Clara E. Nourse, helped by many friends, is providing a thousand Christmas gifts, to be hung on three trees—dolls, books, mittens, tools, pictures; and bushels of oranges and candy. Oh my!

BEREA'S FRIENDS.

The standing of Berea College is seen by noticing who are its friends. We know of no institution which can show more distinguished supporters.

We might begin with the Kentuckians who supported Berea before the war, like Cassius M. Clay and John G. Fee.

We might mention now President Roosevelt, who has written letters and made addresses for Berea, and Miss Helen M. Gould, who came all the way from New York to visit us, and the daughter of America's favorite poet, Longfellow, who sent a gift last week. The students of Berea have a right to be proud that such people take an interest in them and in their progress.

Berea belongs to the people, to all who come to share its advantages, and is managed by a board of trustees, each one of whom is distinguished in one way or another.

Hon. Curtis F. Burman, of Richmond, Ky., is well known throughout the State as one of the ablest lawyers and legislators, and one of the most talented, highly educated, and public spirited in the Commonwealth.

Mr. W. R. Belknap, of Louisville, is as great a business man as Kentucky holds; his hardware is known in every State in the Union, and in foreign countries.

Mr. W. F. Wulworth, of Cleveland, O., is widely known as treasurer of the great Chautauqua Assembly.

Dr. J. A. R. Rogers was the first principal of the school, and still lives, full of years and honors, in his native State of Connecticut.

Mr. J. Cleveland Cady, of New York, one of the first Architects in America, is engaged in many public enterprises, and recently prominent as President of the Federation of Churches.

Rev. Dr. Wm. E. Barton, graduate of Berea in 1885, is pastor of one of Chicago's strongest suburban churches, David B. Gamble, of Cincinnati, is one of the foremost financiers of that city, and noted for his interest in all philanthropic causes, and author of many books and treatises.

These are a few of the people who are interested in Berea College and its students.

STUDENTS' ROOMS.

It is good to see the young men getting into their rooms in the new brick building—16 feet square, with strong, clean iron bedsteads, painted white, new bedding, table, bookshelves, lamp. There will be good study and good times in those rooms.

And the girls' rooms in Gilbert Cottage and Ladies Hall are even brighter and better.

GOOD HEALTH IN BEREA.

Berea is the most healthful spot we know in Kentucky. And the school takes the best care of its students. It does one good to see the clean, comfortable little hospital, and the kindly nurse, ready to help a cut, a burn, or a cold. Most of the time the hospital is without patients—only one now.

APPLIED SCIENCE.

This is the name of the new short course, like the normal, but better and more practical for those who do not expect to be teachers all their lives. It includes book-keeping, history, civil government, and the special studies that fit the boys for scientific farming, stock-raising, and forestry, and the girls for managing a household.

APPRENTICE COURSES.

Every young man or young woman wants to be able to earn money. If you are to earn much you must have skill. The apprentice courses teach boys to do carpenters' work, printers' work, make brick, etc., while they give half their time to other studies. So for the girls. One who earns half a dollar a week learns to earn three dollars a week in a short time.

REPAIR THAT LOOM.

Berea College has secured a market for homespun and home-woven goods, such as bed coverlets, linen, dress linings, jeans, blankets, etc., at following prices:—

Coverlets, $4 to $6; Linen, 40 to 50 cents a yard; Dress Linen, 50 cents a yard; Jeans, 60 cents a yard; Blankets, natural brown wool or bark dyes, $3 a pair.

White linsey and white blankets are not in demand only on orders. Coverlets must be 2 yards (72 inches) wide, and 2½ yards (90 inches) long. All dyes used must be old fashioned home-made dyes.

Any woman who wants to sell coverlets or homespun to Berea College should find out what the College wants before beginning to weave or spin. For information apply in person or by letter to

Mrs. Hettie W. Graham,
Berea, Ky.

For those below A Grammar deduct the $2 for books, and $1 from incidental fee, making the total only $24.50.

When four girls room together each saves $2 or more on room and fuel, making the total, only $22.50, if classed below A Grammar.

Room and fuel cost one dollar more in the winter term.

Two rooms for housekeeping, with stoves, etc., can usually be rented for from $1 to $5 a term.

The price of a big calf, a little tan-bark, or a few home-spun bed-covers, will give a term of school which will change one's whole life for the better!

SEC. WILL C. GAMBLE

Sec. Gamble was formerly connected with the Moody Institute in Chicago, and a member of the famous quartette of singers which sang at Mr. Moody's meetings in the great cities of our country. THE BEREA TEACHERS.

Here are a few of the familiar faces that our old students love. It is so arranged that every student comes to know several teachers, and there are over forty this winter, besides the President, Treasurer and Secretary. And they are all your friends.

WHY COME TO BEREA?

Because there is a great movement for improving things in Eastern Kentucky and Berea is the center of it.

If you come to Berea you will be coming to headquarters. Here you will meet a large number of the best teachers in the country, and here in the course of a year you will see more distinguished people than you could see in any other place. There is a great rush of improvement coming, and you want to be in it.

Come to Berea because here are so many students that they can be classified properly and each student put where he can make most rapid progress.

Come because Forestry, Nursing, Carpentry, Stock-raising, Surveying, Fruit-growing, Dress-making, Music and many other subjects are taught here which you cannot get elsewhere.

Come because here you will meet the best young people from all the counties, and from the States. It is a lifelong benefit and pleasure to have the acquaintance of so many young people of the kind that come to Berea.

Come because Berea's standard is high. Do you know that young people who are far from being ready to graduate from Berea's shortest course are counted good enough to be "professors" in other institutions that are called colleges?

Come because it is almost cheaper than staying at home, and will increase your earning power for life.

Come because the teachers and students are friendly, and you will soon feel that this is like a second home.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

Christmas is the great day of the year for the little ones. We pity the child that does not have something to look forward to and expect at Christmas time. And it does the older people good to look after the joys of the children.

But the joy of Christmas time ought to take in more than the children and their friends: it ought to be a time of good will between neighbors, and especially a time when those who are most prosperous should take thought for the welfare of their less fortunate neighbors. If there is an unprosperous family near you, it may well be that their lack of prosperity is due to the lack of brains and enterprise; nevertheless they are not to be despised or forgotten. To relieve the poor by sending around a bit of food or a present is not the only thing we can do. The encouragement that comes with the present is more valuable by far than the gift itself, and with our good will may come our good advice and practical helpfulness towards self-help. There are different ways of giving good advice. If it is thrown out in a superior manner so as to humiliate the person to whom it is given, it is useless and offensive; but it is a good thing when a successful farmer or a successful housewife will in a friendly way make suggestions which will really help neighbors who have not had such good training from their parents, perhaps, and who are "b-hind." Christmas reminds us how the Lord loved and helped those who were not only unfortunate but unworthy. Let us have His spirit of love.

NEW YEAR'S DAY.

It is a good thing that New Year's comes at a time of year when everybody can have a little chance to think. We pity the man or woman who does not desire to be better—to improve; and improvement comes not of itself but by taking thought. We must consider wherein we have failed, and as the Lord gives us a start in a new year we should set out with new determination to make the most of ourselves—to be as useful and valuable to all our friends as possible.

In making resolutions we must not only resolve to quit bad things, but resolve to cultivate good things. Here are a few resolutions which some people might make, with profit:

RESOLUTIONS FOR A BOY. 1. I will watch the best men I know and imitate the best things in them. 2. I will make my parents feel that I love them and will treat them as I shall wish to be treated when I am old. 3. Whatever work I have to do I will try to do in the very best way. 4. I will make myself fit to associate with the best people, but I will never despise any man.

RESOLUTIONS FOR A GIRL. 1. I will learn all that is to be known about a woman's work, so that no girl can prepare a meal, set a house in order, or care for a sick person any better than I can. 2. I will read every day something that will do me good. 3. I will learn to speak kindly to everybody and about everybody. 4. I will do my part to make the gathering of young people at Sunday-school, singing school, debating society, picnics and parties, both pleasant and profitable.

RESOLUTIONS FOR A MAN. 1. I will make my wife and family comfortable and happy in our home. 2. I will give my children the best chance I can for education. 3. In order to accomplish the first and second resolutions, I will strive to manage my farm and business in the best possible manner. 4. I will be a good neighbor, helpful to those less prosperous and ready to join hands with my fellow-citizens for everything that is for the public good.

RESOLUTIONS FOR A WOMAN. 1. I will remember that my chief business is to train up my children in honor, industry, self-control and prudence. 2. To fit myself for this work of training children, I will get all the instruction and inspiration I can myself, by attending meetings, reading and praying and studying by myself. 3. For the sake of my family I will take good care of my own health. Without being showy I will secure comfortable clothing; without being idle I will secure necessary rest, so that I will not be tempted to be cross, or unable to enjoy the pleasure of my children.

A TALK WITH OUR READERS.

THE CITIZEN has been coming to see you several times of late, and the expense was paid by the kindness of one of our friends, and now it remains to be seen whether you wish him to come any more.

THE CITIZEN is not published for the sake of making money, and yet we cannot publish it without money. We believe that the kind of reading which THE CITIZEN brings will do good to every boy and girl and to every father and mother.

We believe that the farmer who reads THE CITIZEN will make more money and have better crops than his neighbor who neglects.

We believe that the mother who reads THE CITIZEN will take better care of her family and be a happier woman.

We believe that the teacher who reads THE CITIZEN will have a better school and be a better person.

We believe that the boy or girl who reads THE CITIZEN will have more ambition and learn to find happiness in better things.

Now will all who are reading these lines send the small sum of fifty cents in order that you may have THE CITIZEN for the coming year?

Just here is a difficulty with many. Perhaps you have never sent money through the mail. Do you know that the United States government has provided a way in which you can send money with entire safety? You go to the postmaster and tell him you wish an order payable to THE CITIZEN, Berea, Kentucky, for fifty cents. He will give you a little paper to sign, and will take your fifty cents, giving you a paper to enclose in your envelope. That paper will come to us and we will show it to the postmaster here, who will give us the fifty cents. The government charges you three cents for this service.

Now there are a good many times when you will need to send money through the mail and you had better learn how to do it—and now is the time to begin.

There will be much stormy weather this winter, when you cannot get to church and Sunday-school. For many people the best educational and religious advantages must come through the newspaper.

Through the extra Christmas matter some of our departments are omitted this week, but we intend to furnish every week a good story, an explanation of the Sunday-school lesson, and the special departments for Home, Farm and School, besides a variety of other good reading. Don't miss this opportunity to bring a good influence into your home fifty-two times. Go to the postmaster to day, and make out an order for half-dollar.

DR. SPERRY'S LECTURES.

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry is a remarkable man. He was formerly professor of the Natural Science in Carlton College, Minn., but his lectures and talks on scientific subjects became so popular that he finally gave up teaching and has given his entire time to lecturing, his travels extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He has been most constantly employed by the Young Men's Christian Association, because of the value and interest of his scientific lectures showing the effects of various forms of sin upon the human body in producing degeneration and disease, and holding up the high standards of morality and physical manhood. His talks are not only absolutely correct from the physician's, or scientist's standpoint, but of thrilling interest, so that he is frequently interrupted by applause when presenting his demonstrations and illustrations.

Dr. Sperry was a personal friend of Dr. Geo. T. Fairchild and of Pres. Frost, and is to spend a few days in Berea, giving the following lectures in the Tabernacle:

Friday, Dec. 26—Lecture to Students at 3:15 p. m. Free.
Saturday, Dec. 27—Lecture to men at 2 p. m. Free.
Saturday, Dec. 27—Stereopticon lecture at 7 p. m. 10c admission.
Sunday, Dec. 28—Lecture to women at 3:15 p. m. Free.

THE FARM.

FOR BETTER ROADS.

A half day's ride into the hills to the south of here has brought to my mind some important points in regard to our system of public roads.

The first is that while we have several fairly good pikes leading out of Berea the two to the south and south-east end in three and four miles respectively, and the traveler is at the mercy of a very bad dirt road for the rest of his journey. Not but what there is traffic enough to warrant a pike, but simply it has not been built. To the north we may travel to Richmond, Winchester, Lexington and on; and to the west through Wallaceton, Paint Lick and Lancaster for an indefinite distance, and find a network of well-built pikes. Why should we not have them in the other direction? It may be true that the immediate wealth of the farmers in that direction is not as great, and yet there is a wealth of timber, coal and stone awaiting a market—not to speak of the farm crops that would amply pay the interest and sinking fund for a good system of pikes. Then the still greater consideration comes in of putting the farmers and homes of this region of country in easy communication with church, schoolhouse and postoffice. We cannot afford to be kept away from these great agents of civilization during several months in the year for lack of a good reliable road by which to reach them. The law of Kentucky wisely provides that no man shall be denied a passway from his home to church, schoolhouse or postoffice, but if the road is so bad for six months in the year that he cannot pass over it, it seems to me that the law is pretty effectually nullified for that length of time. The remedy is to build good roads. Build them between all county seats, and between your towns and villages; build them to your railway stations; build them into your bodies of timber. Issue the county's bonds to build them. The increased value of every slave, tree or sawlog; the advance in farm lands; the lower price of goods that now have to be waggoned in at such great expense—all these will amply justify the expense.

My second point is that it is of little use to build a pike if it is not kept up. How to lay out and build a good pike is quite a long story, but it is a story not worth telling if we do not intend to keep the pike in repair when we get it. The simplest way to keep up a pike is to keep it up. The rule should not be to mend a road once a year or twice a year, but whenever it needs mending. Water is the worst enemy to good roads. Seepage water under the road-bed spoils the foundation, and should be drained away. Rainwater soaks into the "metal" if it is not thoroughly compacted and kept at a crown that will turn away the rain at once. Little hollows and wagon ruts that allow water to stand on the surface will help the wheels of traffic to soften up the hardest metal and make the holes still deeper. Storm waters coming down a hill will keep the road if the crown is not rounding enough to turn them aside, and as the waters gather volume ruts become gulleys, and the road is ruined.

Build good roads if you have to go in debt for them. They will pay for themselves and leave you a handsome profit. When you get the roads take care of them. Put in the ablest man you have in the district as road supervisor, and stand by him.

S. C. MASON.

A. J. Snell wanted to attend a party, but was afraid to do so on account of pains in his stomach, which he feared would grow worse. He says, "I was telling my troubles to a lady friend, who said: 'Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will put you in condition for the party.' I bought a bottle and take pleasure in stating that two doses cured me and enabled me to have a good time at the party." Mr. Snell is a resident of Summer Hill. This remedy is for sale by S. E. WELCH, JR.

THE WEEKLY WASH.

Is all the dirt removed, are your white clothes white, your colored clothes bright and new looking, your linens soft and unshrunk? These are the questions which test the results of the weekly wash-day's hard labor.

To attain these results plenty of good water, good soap and judicious rubbing are necessary. Drying clothes quickly in the open air and sunshine makes them white. Do not hang on a fence or dusty bushes, but use a clean line and clean pins.

In preparing for the wash first sort the clothes in heaps. Table-linen, handkerchiefs, and kitchen clothes must be kept each kind by itself until washed and boiled. Soak much soiled handkerchiefs in salt and water, punching them about with a stick while soaking. The body and bed-linen may be washed together.

Before washing all stains should be removed and torn places either mended or the edges drawn together to prevent their becoming worse.

The suds should be rather strong and as hot as the hands can bear. Put in the cleanest pieces first and wash on the right side, then turn and wash on the wrong side. Give especial attention to the dirtiest spots.

Rub only enough to remove the dirt, and in the direction of the warp threads of the cloth, as far as possible. The filling is not so strong as that of a man, and it might be added as that any man, for his value, in manhood will practically depend upon the amount of his schooling. This is true in a financial sense. It can easily be shown that every day used in securing a good education is worth five dollars to a man who lives to be sixty. Then does it pay to keep a boy out of school because he can earn twenty five or fifty cents a day? Clearly it is a bad investment. But money is a very low standard by which to measure the value of an education.

After washing through one suds, wring dry, shake out, soap well any parts not quite clean, put in tepid suds, bring to the boiling point, and boil from ten to twenty minutes. Do not allow the clothes to stop boiling after they begin.

Take from the boiler into tepid water and punch under immediately. Cold water will cause the fibers to contract and so hold the dirt particles instead of allowing them to float out into the water. Lying in the air will also set the dirt.

Rinse well with the hands and place in the rinse water proper. When bluing is used, use only a small quantity and stir the water each time before immersing an article. Dip only one article at a time and do not allow it to touch the sides of the vessel for fear of streaks.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON I, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JAN. 4.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xvi, 22-31.
Memory Verses, 22-32—Golden Text,
Acts xvi, 31—Commentary Prepared by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.]
22-31. And the multitude rose up together against them, and the magistrates rent off their clothes and commanded to beat them.

Our last lesson in this book, six months ago, left the messengers of the Lord rejoicing in their welcome to the home of Lydia, who had just opened her heart to receive the Lord Jesus.
The public confession by baptism of herself and her household caused joy in heaven as well as on earth (Luke xv, 7, 10). This was too much for the adversary, so he begins a special work of opposition through the damsel and the rulers of the city, which resulted in the beating and imprisonment of Paul and Silas.

22. And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed and sang praises unto God, and the prisoners heard them.

When Saul of Tarsus first became a disciple of the Lord Jesus, he was told that he must suffer for His sake, even as the Lord taught His disciples while with them that the world would hate them and they must not be offended if the religious Jews should put them out of the synagogue and kill them (Acts ix, 16; John xv, 18; xvi, 1, 2). Their bleeding bodies, their feet in the stocks and the darkness and loneliness of the inner prison do not separate them from the love of God nor break their communion with Him. They are filled with prayer and praise, according to Ps. xlvii, 1, and, like Daniel and his friends, they are victors through the presence of Christ within them.

23. Immediately all the doors were opened, and every one's hands were loosed.

Their songs were heard in heaven as well as on earth, and though they had no influence in the city, see the power
they had in heaven's quaking earth, foundation walls shaking, prison doors open, prisoners' bonds loosed by the Master of these men who felt all that was done to them as done to Himself and part of whose mission was to give deliverance to captives and opened prisons to those who were bound (Isa.
li, 1).

25. Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm, for we are all here.

While the righteous were suffering
the ingedly were in health and asleep,
but if the ungodly had slept into eternally how fearful their condition! See and believe Luke xvi, 22, 23. Rev.
xvi, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15. What a mercy to awaken such as are too late! The jailer, in his blindness, not knowing of the hereafter, would have madly rushed into it and have found himself in hopeless despair had not Paul returned good for evil and kindly cried to him.

29, 30. Then he called for a light and sprang in and came trembling and fell down before Paul and Silas and brought them out and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?

This is the work of the Holy Spirit whom Jesus sent from the Father and of whom He said, When He is come,
He will convince of sin, of righteousness
and of judgment (John xvi, 8).
The jailer had never had to do with prisoners like these nor had he ever met with kindness in return for such treatment as he had given to these two men. He saw in them those who had power that was not of earth; he saw that they were his friends, for men whom he had treated as he had these might naturally have let him take his life and been glad of it, but they had begged him not to harm himself. He has been powerfully wrought upon for his soul's good; he sees his danger and turns to those in whom he had seen the supernatural. See in Job xxxiii, 18, 20, 30, and the context how much God does to save a soul and consider the sorrows of Jesus and what it cost Him to save us.

31, 32. And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved and thy house. And they spoke unto him the word of the Lord and to all that were in his house.

God's way of salvation is, believe,
receive, behold, take—it is all fully prepared and provided in Christ, and the invitation to all is, Come—come now, with the assurance that no one who comes shall ever be turned away
(Isa. i, 18; iv, 1; Matt. xxii, 4; John i, 12, 23; i, 37; Rev. xii, 17). Without anything whatever on our part but a sense of our need, He asks us to accept the gift of eternal life, this life being in His Son, His unspendable gift (Rom.
vi, 23; 1 John v, 11; 11 Cor. ix, 15).
The sinner is not asked to do a single thing but confess himself a sinner and accept that which God has provided.

33, 34. When he had brought them into his house, he set meat before them and rejoiced, believing in God with all his house.

Being saved by grace, he at once begins to work, for we are saved in order to work. See carefully Eph. ii, 8-10; Tit. iii, 5, 8. Having become a child of God, he begins at once to confess it by baptism and manifest it by kindness. The same hour he washed their stripes, took them into his own house and cared for them. He became at once a member of the church, the body of Christ, a temple of the Holy Ghost,
and, having turned to God from idols,
he began to serve the living and true God and to wait for His Son from heaven (1 Thess. i, 9, 10). Faith in Christ, receiving Christ, brings salvation, and then the love of Christ constrains to good works. He is at once filled with joy and peace in believing (Rom. xv, 13), and notice that his household is with him in this. God loves to save households. Think of Lydia, of Noah, of Rahab and their households. Plead those instances with God and trust Him for your household.

Men and Food.

Cassius wanted to know "upon what meat doth this our Caesar feed that he is grown so great." Some antiquarian has been making an investigation into the diet of the New England Caesars, including Governor Winslow, Daniel Webster and others. He finds that they or their ancestors breakfasted on lumpy pudding, pea soup flavored with pork, squash, turnips and onions; dined on the same, with rye pudding, brown bread and an occasional fowl, and supped on fresh fish, with vegetables.

But Cassius did not really think that greatness had its root in meat and drink, for he said, "The fault, dear Brutus, is in ourselves, that we are underlings," after declaring that "men at some time are masters of their fate."

Many people do not know that these appointments are made without political influence and that a large share of them are filled by those having only a common school education, but such is now the case.

USE OF TIME.

Experience shows that each student doing full work should give at least eight hours a day to severe study, and eight hours to sleep. This will leave eight hours for toilet, meals, worship, recreation, manual labor and extras.
It is very important in school life
that we should make a careful plan for use of our time, and that we should all try to study, play and work at the same hours, so as not to hinder one another.

To assist in punctuality and the best use of time the following bells
will ring:

5.30—Rising bell.
(Tollet, devotions, room work.)
6.30—Breakfast. (Warning, 6.20.)
7.00—Inspection of rooms.
7.50—Morning study hours.
(First Lesson Period.)
8.35—Second lesson period bell.
9.25—Chapel worship. *
(Silence during tolling the last two minutes.)
9.45, 10.30 and 11.15—Lesson periods.
12.00—Close of morning study hours.
12.15—Dinner. (Warning, 12.10.)
1.30—Afternoon study hours.
(First Lesson Period.)
2.30—Second lesson period.
3.15—Close of study hours.

Here follows an interval for manual labor and recreation. (Lecture on Mondays)

(In November, December and January supper and appointments following are half an hour earlier.)

5.45—Supper. (Warning 5.35.)
6.30—Vesper hour.
7.30—Evening study hours.
9.30—Warning for curfew.

Nelson's Odd Appearance.

When Lord Nelson was commanding
the Mediterranean squadron and lying off the bay of Biscay, the captain of two Spanish frigates lately arrived from America sent to entreat the honor of an audience with the admiral, merely to give themselves the gratification of seeing a person whom they considered to be the greatest man in the world.
Captain Hardy took their request to Lord Nelson and urged compliance with it, notwithstanding the admiral's querulous reply of, "What is there to see in an old, withered fellow like myself?"

Nelson always wore short breeches and silk stockings, and at this moment his legs were bound at the knee and ankle with pieces of brown paper soaked in vinegar and tied with red tape. The application was to nlay the irritation of some mosquito bites.

Quite forgetting this and the extraordinary appearance it presented, he went on deck to the Spanish captain and conducted the interview with such perfect good breeding and courtesy that his odd appearance was quite forgotten in the charm of his manners, and the Spaniards went away with every high opinion confirmed which they had previously formed of Lord Nelson.

NOT IN ANY TRUST

Many newspapers have lately given currency to reports by irresponsible parties to the effect that

THE NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. had entered a trust or combination; we wish to assure the public that there is no truth in such reports. We have been manufacturing sewing machines for over a quarter of a century, and have established a reputation for ourselves and our machines that is the envy of all others. Our "New Home" machine has never been rivaled as a family machine—it stands at the head of all High Grade sewing machines, and stands on its own merits.

The "New Home" is the only really HIGH GRADE Sewing Machine on the market.

It is not necessary for us to enter into a trust to save our credit or pay any debts as we have no debts to pay. We have never entered into competition with manufacturers of low grade cheap machines that are made to sell regardless of any intrinsic merits. Do not be deceived, when you want a sewing machine don't send your money away from home; call on a "New Home" Dealer, he can sell you a better machine for less than you can purchase elsewhere. If there is no dealer near you, write direct to us.

Recommendation of a Well Known Chicago Physician.

I use and prescribe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for almost all obstinate coughs. Several physicians said he had consumption, but could not help him. "IT'S JUST THIS WAY"

There's as much art and skill necessary in the making of good clothes as there is in the painting of a beautiful picture.

There are good painters and good tailors.

The point now is, who are good tailors?

Strauss Bros., Chicago.

Have been Good Tailors for over a quarter Century.

We know they make good clothes, otherwise we would not have their exclusive local agency or urge you to order from their line.

We guarantee clothes made by Strauss Bros. will give satisfaction. They fit and wear well. Prices are low.

Let us take your measure.
